AUCTION SALE.

Auction sales of cheap, unreliable stuff, dear at any price, are of frequent occurrence. You must look at this sale in an entirely different light. It's as far removed from the average auction sale as earth is from heaven. You can buy a Watch, Jewelry of any sort, or a Diamond—the very finest that ever left a jeweler's store—at whatever price it pleases you to bid. The Jewelry stock comprises Sparkling Diamonds, Beautiful Pearls, Rubies, Sapphires and other precious stones mounted in Rings, Pins, Brooches, etc. The Watches are of every description-all styles, either men's or ladies'. Some are Repeaters, Split Seconds, Horse Timers, Strikers. All are the best made, perfect timekeepers, 14-karat gold cases. It won't take long to dispose of them, so you'd better not remain undecided.

GENERAL UNREST

What the Grand Master of the Knights of Labor Says.

PREFERS DOMESTIC TO FOREIGN WAR

Mr. Martin of the Executive Board Indorses the Views.

HE TALKS AT LENGTH

Knights of Labor, the official organ of that the K. of L. headquarters in this city, contains an address to the members of the order throughout the United States from

Grand Master Workman Sovereign. Mr. Sovereign, who is at his home in Sulphur Springs, Ark., takes for his text a letter recently published from Private Dalzell, in which a foreign war was recommended as a relief from the business de pression which now exists in this country and goes on to say: "Private Dalzell seems to overlook the fact that as the result of the recent election 1,000,000 voters in this country lost faith in the ballot, that the Iron Brother-hood and the Industrial Army, both secret revolutionary secieties, are now being rap-icly organized in every part of the coun-

Prefers a Domestic War.

"I still entertain hopes of a peaceful solution of our difficulties, and will work to that end. But if, as Private Dalzell says, the only remedy is in war, I prefer to have the war at home. What moral right have we to impose war, with all its cruelties, destruction and desolation, on a foreign country as a means of relieving our own distresses, the result of our own errors? Furthermore, to provoke a foreign country to tresses, the result of our own errors? Furthermore, to provoke a foreign country to war would not prove a permanent remedy for domestic wrongs. It would inflate the volume of government securities and impose increased burdens on the creditor classes. It might also result in adding our country to the conquests of some monarchial or despotic power and make us slaves to tyranny and oppression a thousard times worse than we now suffer.

"Private Dalzell's proposition is dangerous to the peace of this country, for no one posted in the history of wars between nations will accept it as a remedy for industrial depression. It is both foolisn and dangerous. If he succeeds in convincing the people that the only remedy lies in war, he will incite them to insurrection and revolution, for every student of economics in this country is clamoring for a readjustment of conditions at home, which can never come through war with foreign powers.

edy lies in war I would urge every work-ing man to get a gun and get it quickly and prepare to fight foreign institutions and prepare to fight foreign institutions and customs now operating in this country. In fact, it would not necessarily indicate war or revolution if every working man in this country had a gun and knew how to use it, for every legal robber in America today is a moral coward and would submit to a wholesome readjustment rather than run the risk of losing all in a general insurrection. John R. McLean made a forcible suggestion to the millionaire classes when he said he preferred to aire classes when he said he preferred to pay an income tax now than to lose all a few years hence.

"What we need is an agitation at home that will force the people to a test against our own social and economic disorders. But that it should come through insurrection with all its constitution." tion, with all its revolting ho #### proposition repulsive to all the higher impulses of humanity. A Revolutionary Circular.

start with a spark and are quenched only with a deluge. One reason in favor of in surrection to idle, starving and debt-burdened people is more potent in exciting war than a thousand reasons against insurrection are in preserving peace. For that reason Dalzell at this time is a dangerous writer. He may not know what the secret revolutionary societies are doing. For his benefit I quote the following from the pre-lude of a secret circular now being dis-tributed by one of the revolutionary so-

"Comrades: There comes a time in the affairs of men and nations when desperation compels the human mind to pause and bring to its aid that element of reason so long discarded. We have reached such a crisis in the destinies of this American republic. One hundred years of national existence has demonstrated that the political fabric of our government contains within fabric of our government contains within its warp and woof the elements of its own destruction. Today we are confronted with the fact that the ballot has proven a most lamentable failure as a safeguard of free institutions. In the closing hour of the nineteenth century we see a class despotism establishing itself upon the ruins of the republic—an oligarchy is now in nower and already the hideous phantom of power and already the hideous phantom of power and already the hideous phantom of imperialism overshadows us, as embodied in the autocratic claims of the federal court, and the act of unbridled military despotism characteristic of the federal government of today. What is to be done? We have appealed in vain to the ballot. Every trial of strength in the political arena has resulted in victory for the unarena has resulted in victory for the un-scruptious money power. There is nothing surprising in this. The ballot is a weapon best wielded by the hand of cunning and craft. History records no nation that freed itself by voting. No king was ever made itself by voting. No king was ever made to feel the people's power through the ballot. No? Let us be frank! The hour has come for men to lay aside the mask and look each other in the face. Fellow-reformers, would you be free? Would you see the regime of corporate power and class despotism at an end? Would you see the shackles stricken forever from the limbs. shackles stricken forever from the limbs of humanity and behold the emancipation, the rebirth, of that nation which Jefferson the rebirth, of that nation which Jefferson revered, that Paine wrote and wrought to establish? Do you believe that this can come through the ballot? No! You do not! Have not the reformers spent their lives, their fortunes and their energies in the cause of political reform through the ballot box? And what has been the result? Have they not seen the cunning and unscrupulous always victorious, emerging from every campaign master of the spoils? Have you any hopes that this will be changed in the future? By the past we alone can judge the tuture. The past is one long protest against the ballot as an instrument of reformation.

"Scarcely a day passes that I do not re-Instrument of reformation.

"Scarcely a day passes that I do not receive one or more appeals to join one or the other of the revolutionary orders now being formed in this country, and offers of money and arms are frequently received if I will give my efforts to the cause of revolution. Thus far I have persistently declined to give aid or encouragement to such movement. But If, through the writings of such men as Private Dalzell, revolution such men as Frivate Daizen, revolution comes, in spite of all efforts to prevent it, I will not be found among the cow-ards nor on the side of the plutocratic classes.

"Some one personally acquainted with Private Dalzell should urge him to desist from recommending war as a means of relief to our people. One word in favor of war with a foreign country will multiply ten-fold into a desire for revolution at home. The general unrest of the people is not caused by their hatred of foreign nations, but because of robbery imposed on them by class legislation of our own government, and if incited to war as a means of relief they will direct their attack against the source of their oppression and not against a foreign nation that did not possess the administrative power to impose the conditions from which they suffer. These facts should be fully considered by Private Dalzell before invoking heaven to hasten war with another country."

such men as Private Dalzell, revolution

Mr. Martin Indorses Those Views. Mr. H. B. Martin of the general executive board of the Knights of Labor said today to Star reporter in reference to Mr. Sovereign's address: "I entirely agree with Mr. Sovereign's views of the situation, and you would be

Mr. Martin was asked whether he thought He replied: "That is a very hard ques tion to answer. Very few men would give you an honest answer to that question for publication. Men are doing more thinking than talking on that subject. You could furnish the readers of The Star with some mighty interesting matter for their peru on that subject, choosing your men to be interviewed from the modest range of avocations and positions in life. The dis-content and distress of the people is far wider and deeper than casual observers Sooner or later these conditions will provoke bitter and violent resistance on the part of the masses of the people against wrongs and oppressions for which the peorle are unable to find a peaceful or lawful remedy.

"The reason for this, as I have heard it expressed hundreds of times by deep think-ers and keen observers of the times, is ers and keen observers of the times, is that the masses seek redress for their grievances through Congress, legislatives and the courts and fail to get P. Their will is thwarted at the ballot boy by the terrible and almost resistless power of the confederated corporations; then, after a legislature and Congress is elected, the power of the banks, trusts and railroad corporations is breught to bear in a thousand secret and cunning ways to prevent legislation for the relief of the people, and even if the pressure of public opinion forces Congress to pass laws tending to check the evil power of the growth of aggregate wealth, then the veto power of the governor or President is invoked by the corporations to defeat the people's will, and should good legislation succeed in running the tions to defeat the people's will, and should good legislation succeed in running the gauntlet of both the legislative body and the executive veto, then, as a last resort, the plutocracy retreat to their final citadel of power, the United States Supreme Court, and good laws, like the revenue tax, are declared unconstitutional.

Something Besides Paper Bullets Needed. "Then poor men, hungry wives and starving children look one another in the face and ask each other the grim question whether the time has not come when somehing besides paper ballots must be rescrted to to secure their rights. "Knowing that it takes two-thirds vote of both houses of Congress and of the state legislatures to secure any change in the existing Constitution of government that would secure freer and fairer expression of the people's will and a recovery of the control of their government from the domination of the great moneyed interests, is it not natural that simple-minded men, not learned in law, should think the time had come when it was necessary to resort to the same kinds of instruments for chang-ing the constitution of their government that George Washington and the re-olu-tionary fathers resorted to to change the constitution and personnel of the govern-ment under which they lived?"
